PLASTIC WASTE IS A GROWING THREAT TO THE
WORLD'S OCEANS

The presence of plastic waste in the world's oceans has been recognized as a major threat for a number of years now. Even though our society has undoubtedly been trying to reduce and stop the pollution of oceans with plastic waste, it seems that these efforts have not been sufficient, since between 4 and 12 million tons of plastic waste ends up in the oceans every year. Moreover, future development trends indicate that the amount of waste in our oceans will double in the next 10 years in spite of all the efforts to reduce plastic waste.

EXHIBITION SITES

INTERNAUTICA covers over 35,000 square metres of indoor and outdoor space. The indoor venues provide space for displaying smaller yachts, inflatable boats, other nautical accessories and navigation equipment. The outdoor

Over the years various electric and hybrid vehicles have been exhibited: Pipistrel NASA-award winning aircraft, various hybrid and electric cars (BMW i3, Tesla, Opel Ampera, E-Smart Roadster, E-Smart, Nissan Leaf), ecological vehicles (Fiat, gas engine modification), and an electric motor and bicycle. In the water it was possible to visit the hybrid vessels Greenline, as well as some purely electric-driven vessels.

In 2018 the Green Avenue has increased and presented more exhibited cars, motorcycles, bicycles and other means of transport used to drive electrical or hybrid vehicles. At the same time Green Avenue 2024 will expand the program to other products and services that are not directly related to transport. Everything ecologically oriented, that is technologically sophisticated and environmentally friendly will be shown in the area of Green Avenue.
